SEZ TH' PREZ

Hi all
Bloody EBAY.....

A few of us tested a NPWS site at "Mill Creek", but unless you like crowds and doof doof, I wouldn't bother. But we have found a spot for the xmas party, 8/9th December ,well done JG ! Things were looking a little grim. Contact John G for details of how to get there.

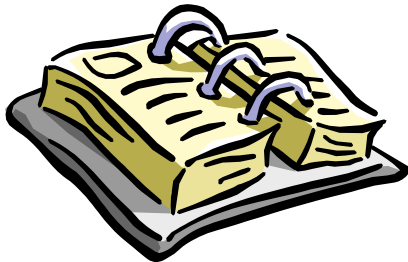

The last few club meetings have been very low on attendance, if you are able to attend, you would be very much welcomed. This gives you an opportunity to help decide what trips are held, when and where. 2008 is a blank canvas, just waiting for your suggestions.

Taree is shaping up to be a popular trip with a few not often seen faces appearing. Should be fun.

The much anticipated website has taken another step, with the Michael beginning to "dress it up", thanks Mike.

PS. If anyone needs a roof rack and/ bars, let me know I have several varieties and sizes to choose from.

THE NEW ED'S EDITORIAL

Howdy all. First off, on behalf of the Jeep Club, a special congrats to Adam and Colette on the birth a Sarah Ann. [can't believe Adam had anything to do with such a cute little bub] See news desk.

The Xmas party is fast approaching and a great location has been arranged. I will forward you a map of the area when final details are available but you must contact John G if you are attending.

Brettly.

COORABAKH NP TRIP INFO

23rd –25th November

This trip is a Friday Morning start.

- If you intend to meet up either Friday night or Saturday morning please contact me at latest the Wednesday prior to the trip so that I can give you the location of and the access route to the base camp. It's well sign posted and easy enough to find, even in the dark. But if you ring me at home and cop the answering machine don't leave a message for me because the females in the household don't pass them on.
- Saturday 24th November is Federal Election. You will need to make either postal or absentee voting arrangements.

The trip provides :-

- good access for camper trailers over National Park and State Forest roads .
- plenty of scenic sites to visit.
- a short rainforest walk.
- a walk around an old tramway from the timber cutting days.
- Some day trip routes will be light to moderate 4WD'ing.

The base camp is located adjacent to a flowing stream, and has toilets and plenty of play area for kids.

The trip itinerary will go something like this :-

- Friday :- meet at Coopernook, travelling over forest roads suitable for camping trailers, visiting scenic sites, establish base camp mid/late afternoon.
- Saturday :- Light to Moderate 4wd'ing over forest roads visiting sites of interest, return to camp mid/late afternoon, in time for a dip if you want.
- Sunday :- head across to the coast, some moderate 4Wd'ing and visit a couple of coastal lookouts. Route home will be via the coast roads to Coopernook

These plans are subject to change depending on weather & road conditions and logging operations.

I mentioned in last month's newsletter that Warren and Cheryl have offered their abode at Krambach as a stopover if you want to head up Thursday evening because of the distance. If you wish to avail yourself of the offer please phone Warren and let him know.

JEEP CLUB X-MAS PARTY

DECEMBER 8th

COME ALL YE MEMBERS

John G has been able to arrange the use of a private property for the Club's X-mas party. [See Ed Report] He alone knows the address so it will be necessary for you to contact him to obtain details of the location! This will also help in arranging catering for Saturday evening's meal and Sunday's breakfast.

The property is located on the Hawkesbury River, near Webbs Creek, and is accessible by 2WD vehicles. So there's no reason not to come.

There is a toilet on site and river access for water activities. The area is large enough to accommodate overnight camping, cricket and Frisbee games, frolicking and other family-based activities.

The Central Coast guys have organised a trailer load of firewood, and, in case of a total fire ban alternate cooking facilities will be made available.

The Rhino Linings Corporate Launch will be available for the water activities. So if you have a set of water skis bring them along.

Activities will commence from 10.00am on Saturday 8th.

Ring John now on 9831 1389. Don't delay. Help us cater a good event for you.

NEW ADDITION TO THE JEEP CLUB

The big Kahuna said I should send you a pic and some details of our little munchkin...

Sarah Ann Townsend

Born 23rd October at 8:31 am

Weight 8lb 8.5 oz

Brown hair (more than dad), blue eyes

Eats lots, sleeps lots and then eats some more...

I wanted to start her early, but Col wasn't that keen on having her helping me in the shed yesterday. Oh well, I can wait a couple more weeks...

Col is fine, and fitting into the role of mum like she was made for it.

Much to Col's disgust, everyone bought Sarah pink clothes, pink towels, pink toys, pink cards, pink flowers, pink blankets, pink singlets, pink booties and pink bibs.

The poor little thing hasn't got much of a chance at being a girly-girl with Col and I as role models.

She'll know how to service her own Jeep, that's for sure, but she's not having a boyfriend until she's 35 and I'm going on the first date with them.

Actually, my sister got me an application for a gun license as a present, for that exact reason. She reckons she could see me sitting on the front veranda in my rocking chair, with my trusty dog and shotgun at my side, waiting for him to bring her home by 10pm. God help him if he's a minute late !

I never thought I could love anyone more than Col, but I think she may have met her match.

Cheers, Adam.
